To whom it may concern:

It is my pleasure to write a recommendation on behalf of WC Construction. Simply put, we could not have had a better experience with our construction project!

WC Construction was unique in our involvement with contractors. For starters, a project manager was on sight every single day of the project to track progress and coordinate resolutions to any questions. Having a customer focused person available at all times was crucial to our satisfaction and led directly to the success of the project.

As a nonprofit organization, cost was a primary concern and WC Construction made every effort to control the budget. Their attentiveness and expertise led to the identification of several opportunities to save money while still achieving the desired result.

And not only did the project come in under budget, but it was also finished early!

Throughout our time with WC Construction, we felt listened to and cared for. They genuinely had our best interests at heart. I am proud to not only call them a business partner, but we have created a true connection. The Chamber staff and I would wholeheartedly and without reservation recommend them for your next construction project.

Sincerely,
